The Rochester Entrepreneurship Conference—featuring Paychex Inc. founder Thomas Golisano as its headliner—is expected to draw more than 200 local professionals to its 2007 session on March 9.

Golisano is slated to make the keynote address along with national entrepreneurship expert and author Ray Smilor, executive director of the Beyster Institute in the Rady School of Management at the University of California at San Diego.

To be held at the Simon Graduate School of Business at the University of Rochester, the event will focus on improving chances of success through three concurrent session tracks: Starting High Potential Ventures, Accelerating Venture Growth and Commercializing Technology.
